

Geek Choice and Computer Depot Co-Market Computer Services

Geek Choice, a Boston, MA - based nationwide on site computer service company has announced today that it has acquired the Reading, MA - computer company Computer Depot.

Boston, MA (PRWEB) November 30, 2008 -- Geek Choice (<http://www.geekchoice.com>), a Boston, MA - based nationwide provider of computer service and repair, delivering premium on-site service to thousands of residential and small business clients, has announced today that it has acquired the Reading, MA - based company, Computer Depot.

About Computer Depot

Computer Depot has been the premiere local computer service company of Northeastern Massachusetts. Based in Reading, they have sold hundreds of computers at competitive prices and provided the full range of computer repair, upgrade and installation services to over 3000 residents and small businesses of the North Shore.

Those clients and their neighbors can now turn to Geek Choice, the largest provider of computer repair services in New England. Formerly known as Computer Geeks, Geek Choice has been based in the heart of Boston since its inception in 1996. Many of their 60,000 residential and small business clients have entrusted all their computer needs to them since the beginning.

About Geek Choice (<http://www.geekchoice.com>)

Geek Choice is a highly-respected one-stop shop for computers, peripherals, repairs, upgrades, installations, tutoring and affordable virus protection. Their small but busy national office doubles as a friendly, accessible storefront and is a fixture in its Beacon Hill neighborhood. Geek Choice clients can also enjoy on-site service on the same day or within 24 hours, and for most issues they have the option of immediate remote service. Many Geek Choice clients also take advantage of the Business Partner Advantage program, which allows both companies and individuals to prepay for blocks of time at a discounted rate.

"Geek Choice and Computer Depot are very similar companies in that we both provide local, smart, and reliable on-site service from certified, screened and insured computer technicians, and also in that we have a dedicated base of local clients who have come to trust us with all their computer needs over many years time," says Stan Benton, Vice President for Customer Care at Geek Choice. "I encourage everyone, especially the loyal clients at Computer Depot to call our office at (800) 433-5435 and ask about what we can do for you."

Computer Depot clients will be able to immediately enjoy the full range of Geek Choice services - including all the benefits of being an existing client. And according to Mr. Benton, Geek Choice decided to partner with a North Shore company because some of the most experienced technicians are based in that region. "Some of our most experienced and best technicians in the country live just north of Boston. Computer Depot clients will have the security of trusting their machines' needs to technicians who have worked with a company for nearly a decade and who have worked with computers for 20 years or more."

For more information, please contact a professional Customer Service Representative at (800) 433-5435.

© Copyright 1997-2009, Vocus PRW Holdings, LLC.

Original Article: <http://www.prweb.com/releases/GeekChoice/compservice/prweb1681054.htm>